

BELIEVE PEACH SHIPMENT LAST OF THE SEASON

Another carload of Alberta peaches, probably the last in Rock Island, came in this week and the fruit is selling at $4.00 per bushel, an advance over the last figure. It is not probable that any more peaches in quantities for canning will be shipped in after this date, consequently this is the last chance to buy them.

Tomatoes, which in other years were on the market in large quantities at this time, are scarce. Green tomatoes are also few.

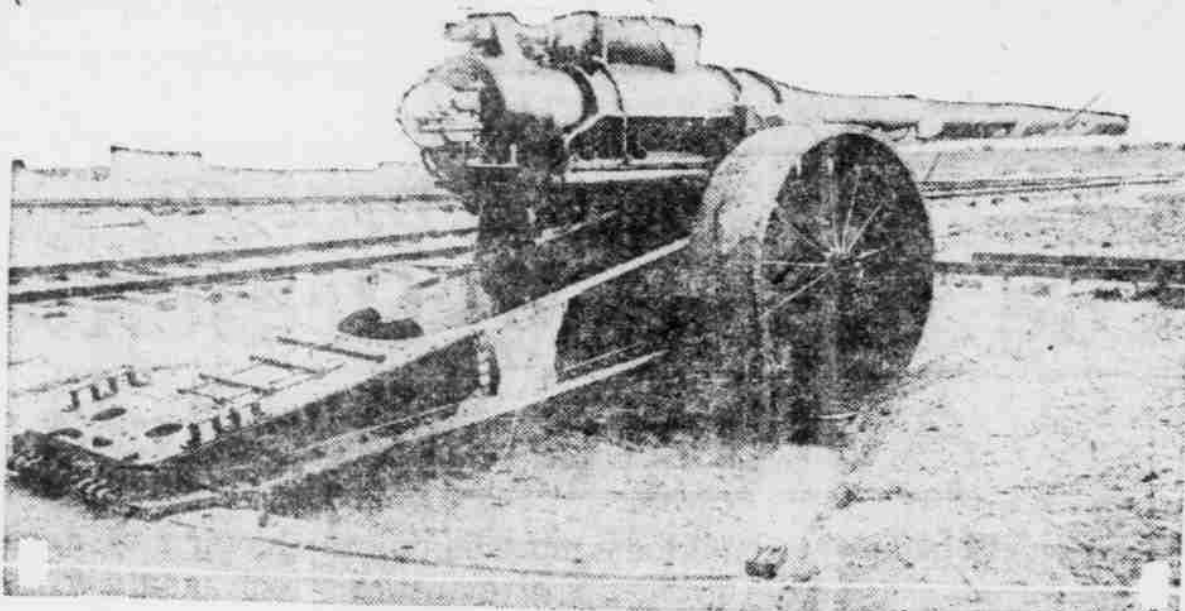

Whereas the weather conditions have lessened the production of certain varieties of vegetables they have increased the production of others. This has been a splendid season for beans, which has been the principal vegetable on the market throughout the summer. It has been possible to grow one crop after another, and each has been of good quality. Usually at this time of the year green and wax beans are very stringy and tough. The beans on the market today are as tender and good as those which were sold in the early summer. Lettuce and radishes likewise have been plentiful, late varieties of which are on the market now. An extra fine quality of celery from Michigan is selling at five cents for large stalks or three stalks for 10 cents.

The evergreen corn, the late variety, is selling now at 20 cents per dozen. The ears are large and full, and of good quality.

A shipment of pineapples arrived this week and the fruit is selling at 20 cents apiece.

Two ears of corn, the property of Charles Rockwood, who owns a farm three miles south of Durant, Iowa, are attracting much attention for their unusual perfectness. Mr. Rockwood says the corn on his place will run 100 bushels to an acre.

MOCK ICE CREAM ALL THE RAGE IN LONDON THIS YEAR

London.—Ice cream, made without milk, cream or sugar, to comply with government regulations, has been all the rage this summer at the soda fountains of London. The recipe was conceived by an American, Charles H. Boehlin, of New York City, soon after the British government prohibited early this year the use of milk products or sugar in the manufacture of ice cream.

Here's the way the mock ice cream is made: For a gallon of the ice, two pounds of glucose or four pounds of honey. If honey is used it should be boiled down in a quart of water, and before being poured into the freezer should be allowed to cool for three or four minutes. Then add the white of one egg and any flavor desired and freeze. Fresh fruit adds considerably to the flavor of the ice which really tastes like ice cream.

In London, where even in summer eggs have been worth about 30 cents each, the ice cream manufacturers use the powdered egg albumen instead of eggs.

SOLDIERS ALWAYS HAVE WORKERS AT HAND IN SERVICE

Paris, France.—There is never a moment when a soldier in the army of liberty cannot find a Y. M. C. A. war worker somewhere around to serve him in any way he may be called upon. In some cases the endless chain begins when a man from the "Y" in a recruit's little home town accompanies him to the recruiting station or draft board in the nearby city. There a new "Y" man picks up the rookies and travels with them to the camp where they are assembled. In that camp he has the use of a big association organization and facilities.

When he entrains for the intensive training cantonment, a "Y" man rides with him and other men take care of him at the new place. He is accompanied to the embarkation camp and the red triangle workers wave good-bye to him as he boards the transport where a specially trained set of "Y" workers continue the relay. Y. M. C. A. men receive him in France, and he finds them at every stopping place he hits over there. If he is taken sick he finds "Y" men at the hospitals. Finally a "Y" man goes over the top with him, bearing tobacco, chocolate and other things he might want, and who is at his side as the machine guns bark, ever ready to do anything he can think of for the comfort and welfare of the fighter. Thus, though he may be away from all relatives, he is never without a true friend, who thinks of him all ways as the individual human being instead of a cog in a great machine.

ALASKANS HELP WAR. Nome, Alaska.—Residents of the Seward peninsula of Alaska, one of the far northwestern parts of the United States, assert they have contributed an average of $81 each to war work.

Jack Frost Makes First Showing; Is to Be Here Again

With a temperature of 35 degrees above zero recorded as the coldest last night "Jack Frost" made his first appearance in Rock Island county.

Rock Islanders heeded the warning issued forecasting the expected cold snap and prepared their gardens accordingly.

Although tomorrow warmer weather is promised, frost is again forecasted for tonight. Hay fever victims looked on the turn of events with pleasure. The frost relieved the majority of the cases, it is said.

COLLECT SILK WORM EGGS.

Washington.—The most complete collection of silkworm eggs ever made—170 varieties from all silk-producing districts of China—has been gathered by the University of Nanking, which has organized a short-term course in silkworm culture. More than half of the 72 students taking the course are government officials and school teachers.

WOMEN COMING TO U. S.

San Juan, Porto Rico.—F. C. Roberts, special agent in charge of the United States employment service here, has announced that within a short time several thousand women will be registered and ready to go to the United States to help in war work. The women, as well as the men, are being classified in such a way that particular types of workers can be supplied to meet any particular requirement. Mr. Roberts said that a considerable number of the women who are enrolled have had sufficient commercial training to make them valuable in the offices of exporting houses having business in Spanish-speaking countries.

WILL FIGHT ON IS REPLY OF FRENCH PREMIER TO FOES

Paris, (Havas).—"We will fight until the hour when the enemy comes to understand that bargaining between crime and right is no longer possible," declared Premier Clemenceau in an eloquent address in the senate after hearing of the Austrian peace offer. "We want a just and a strong peace, protecting the future against the abominations of the past."

M. Clemenceau spoke of the attitude of the people of the allied nations feel "toward those marvelous soldiers of the entente," by whom those nations would at last be liberated from the barbarian menace. He recalled the threatening attitude of Germany toward Pacific France, which had endured for a half century "the infamous wounds, brutalities and tyrannies of an enemy who would not forgive us for having saved from the wreck the consciousness of right and our inalienable claims of independence."

He pointed out how without the slightest pretext Germany hurried herself upon French territory, devastated the fields of France, burned and pillaged her towns and villages and enslaved her men, women and children.

"The enemy thought that victory would cause all this to be pardoned," said the premier, "but fortune has changed. The day of glory has come. Our sons are completing the formidable task of their fathers, and with brotherly nations are securing a supreme victory. All right minded humanity is with our troops, who are liberating the nations from the furies of evil force."
